Our deepest sympathy and regrets, Jean and family, for your loss. Diane and I are saddened by Roger's passing . Our thoughts and prayers are with you . At this time of grief and reflection we can take some comfort in a full life spent in helping others. Roger was truly a gentle man -- compassionate, loving, and generous with his time and good counsel. We will miss him greatly.

Thinking back, I felt you had the best wedding ever. Later, we loved our times together at North Beach when our children were younger.

It's difficult for me to express how much I admired and respected Roger as we were growing up. He was interested in everything, able to fix anything, quick to offer help and advice. His energy was both spiritual and practical . Later in life, Roger showed great talent and craftsmanship with the leather business. Diane and I were impressed with his ability to excel at whatever he did.

Since we were teenagers I felt Roger was a model of patience and persistence in tackling any task -- electrical, mechanical , artistic . He exhibited great good grace and humanity in all friendships and daily life. I had forgotten his father was an executive with the BSA, but in retrospect, I see that Roger had learned a lot from him.

A loving son, I know how much Roger cared for his mother and sisters. After marriage and family, Jean, you and Roger, Jr were the center of his life. You were both a spiritual center and great support for him. We will all keep him in our memory.

And we are all better people for having known Roger. He remains a bright, shining light in our lives. I loved him as a friend and will sincerely miss him.

Roger:

I loved you, man, and I miss you. Buddy, we had something rare, didn't we?...
.....a 50 year long REAL friendship. We clicked right away, didn't we? From our high school Triumph TR3/TR4 "sports car" phase," through the crazy times at U of South Carolina, and all the joint family vacations on LBI, we always "had each others' backs." Our bond had what Emerson called, "The Glory of Friendship" ..... that "spiritual inspiration when one discovers mutual trust and total belief in the other. "

You know, Roger, both our senses of humor seemed to have been made from the same cloth, and that was part of the "glue" of our bond. Sometimes just momentary eye contact, properly timed, was enough to set us off. I was thinking just today, that we had so many "hysterical laughing "attacks" over the years, we MUST have set some sort of record don't you think? I guess the debilitating laugh we experienced at the Pleasant Valley Apartments parking lot in 1965 took the prize. As I recall, we both literally fell down onto the ground that day.....and as i recall, our sides hurt for rest of day. Of course, knowing you and I, we just HAD to replay it over and over again during the coming months. .....

I know you'll never forget that flight we took down to Columbia in the Spring, a few years ago, to visit an old fraternity brother, and have a look at the USC campus.... after an absence of 43 years! Now THAT was a real moment wasn't it? Then we somehow got up early the next morning, and made the short drive to Augusta to attend the Masters in glorious Georgia sunshine....what a day! Up early again the next day for breakfast in the old and familiar Russell House on campus and we were off to the airport for the non-stop hop down the Florida coast to Palm Beach International @ 24,000 feet.

Ah....those were great days, buddy, and only a couple years ago, too!

In way, Roger, I think that trip somehow personifies our relationship. When we were together, we ALWAYS, and at all times, acted like a couple crazy YOUNG pups!

I'll be looking for you to show me around someday when I take MY journey to the next life.

Your friend in this life and the next,

Tom Clendining

My deepest sympathy to Roger's family on your loss. He was ethical and kind and gentle … and back in the 1970s he was one of the best pinball players I had ever seen.

Please allow me to recount a story about Roger's pinball prowess, an experience of nearly 40 years ago that I remember vividly:

I knew Roger as a friend and neighbor in Philadelphia in the '70s, who I then ran into again when we both moved back to Moorestown. We first met in the back room of a pizza place at 12th & Pine streets in Philadelphia, and I would watch in awe as he played all four players on the machine, winning game after game on every player.

Back then, when you performed some feat of skill and won a free game, a loud "POP!" would sound and a little dial on the backboard of the machine would turn to indicate that you had won a free game. Watching Roger play was a cacophony of "POP!" "POP!" "POP!" …

One afternoon as I stood beside the flashing, banging game and watched Roger play, he "hit," winning a game on points. The free game indicator turned to 10. Then he "hit" again, performing some tricky maneuver and scoring on the "Special When Lit" feature. A second later he "hit" again, passing some bonus level. The game went "POP!" "POP!" "POP!" … but the dial on the backboard only turned once, and stopped with 10 free games registered.

Not wanting to disturb the master as he played out the ball, I waited several minutes until he finally lost the ball. I said to him: "You know that you hit three games that time, but it only gave you one."

Without looking up, he pulled back the plunger for his next ball, released it and said softly "Only goes to 10."
