“ I am devastated, I just learned of your death. You came on vacation to France, I came to New Jersey and it was the best vacation of my life. I was trying to teach you French, you were trying to teach me English. In 2019, I was struck by the same illness as you but I recovered thanks to an experimental program at the Oncopole in Toulouse, during this dreadful experience we lost connections. Like me, you liked the same music, the same songs, the same films: Fellini, Fassbinder, museums, stained glass and glass paste, you liked to cook and good French recipes. Your intelligence, your sensitivity, your kindness, your kindness, your humility and your smile often with a sad look are engraved in me and forever as what is engraved on the bark of a tree, forever.

“ My dear cousin, Richie, had a profound impact on my life. In addition to the many fun and interesting times we shared over the years, Rich introduced me to my husband, more than three decades ago, at precisely this time of year. If it weren't for Rich, we would have never met.

I am proud of you, Rich -- proud of who you are. You consistently endured your health ordeal with grace and courage -- REAL grace and courage, a quiet courage. Your true inner beauty could not be hidden; it constantly shone through, warm and beautiful, like a candle flame gently flickering. Although I will miss you, I am grateful that you are now free, and I trust your spirit is delightedly soaring in the heavens. You are indeed, dear Richie, now "A Free Man in Paris." :)

Thank you for adding such dimension to my life, for the fun times, for all the memories, for your intelligence, your friendship, and your wonderful wit. Rest in peace, dear Rich. I love you. You will live on in my heart.

“ My condolences to the entire family. I have so many memories, it's impossible to pick just one; buying/building our homes, going to the shore, going to the theater, our first happy hour & first date; vacations, being with friends and just our day to day life watching our favorite TV shows. I will miss Rich's sense of humor the most. No one could make me laugh like Rich. I will miss his heart.

“ Such a special place in my heart for my cousin Richie. So many good memories of our many times shared, from early childhood through high school and college and middle age...memories of making music together, and art; of sharing poems and favorite recording artists; of staying up late, singing and playing guitar; of marathon conversations long into the night; of laughing at ourselves and our silly struggles in the world. How wonderful to have known and loved him. How lucky I am. How wonderful to remember him. Always.

“ Lori and family, my prayers are with you as you remember & celebrate Rich's life. He always had such a dry sense of humor & had me laughing! Remembering that now makes me smile. He is resting peacefully, free of pain, and probably hanging out w/his Mom & Dad.
