“ I am deeply saddened and shocked at the passing of my dear friend Andy Blake. Andy and I have been friends for many years through our wives Norma and Molly. Andy was a soft-spoken, considerate, thoughtful and interesting guy. He had an easy smile and was quick with a joke or story. We shared similar interests in sports, travel and Ireland.

I was so glad that Andy achieved his goal of retirement. I know he missed his students but was looking forward to traveling with Norma and spending time with Kay and her husband. He told a funny story of being near the front window on the first day of school this September and watching the local kids walk to school while he could sit back and relax. I was never in Andy's classroom but I am sure it was a place of learning and love for his students.

Andy helped me cross off an item from my "bucket list" last summer when he invited me to accompany him to watch his beloved Yankees play at Yankee Stadium. I am not sure if I enjoyed the event as much as the stories he told me on the ride to and from the Bronx. I already miss my friend immensely and will never forget him. Please look up the words to the Irish song "The Parting Glass". I will think of Andy whenever I hear it. Rich Connor
