“ I learned just now of Deane's passing. I am so very sorry and send my much belated condolences to his wife, Colleen, along with the rest of his family and friends. Deane and I worked together in the film business around 1989-91. I was a film editor, he was an assistant film editor. We had a couple of adventures in the trade, one was working on a hilariously bad film called "Braitwisters," in Scranton, PA. It was a mess of a project, and the clueless producers had put us up in a very dodgy hotel in downtown Scranton.... but we kind of loved it, laughing through the bad parts and making the best of everything else. I remember one late night, dancing down the dark streets of Scranton after a very late dinner (following a very long day...) .... laughing and wondering how we had ever gotten there. Deane was a wonderful guy and I am so very fortunate to have known him.

“ I am so sorry to hear of Deanes death. Only knew him when he was very young. Uncle Les and Aunt Maggie were very proud of him. My mom Frances Lingle and Uncle Les were very close. Wish I could have known Deane better.

“ Deane was a great guy, incredibly smart, and one of the funniest people I've ever met. When I worked at Blank Rome, I would look forward to Deane stopping by my office in the evenings on his way out of the building. We had so many good laughs. There are numerous stories that I will never forget, including: Deane tip-toeing up to my office and rolling a plastic stick of dynamite under my door; Deane leaving a framed photocopy of his gorilla mask in my office; Deane crushing the entire Princeton Office in Trivial Pursuit; and Deane creating mind-reading helmets for the Princeton associates to wear.

It was a pleasure working with Deane and, much more importantly, getting to know him and spend time with him. He will be missed. My deepest condolences to Deane's family.
