“ I just happened to google the Hubler name in Moorestown out of curiosity. Sorry to see this...
I lived a few houses away in the 70's from the Hublers.
Always admired Butch and his family. Their Powder blue El Camino. Their Pool. Fond memories in Moorestown. My brother went on to be a machinist.
Butch always seemed so honest and straightforward. Barbara was very nice to us kids.
I'll never forget the time Tim was trying to kill off ants with a can of gasoline and a match, right up against Tims house...
Woompff! Big flames and a gas can on fire. As young teenagers we froze, only to see Butch come charging (flying) down the block towards us, then calmly putting out the fire. Turned to us and said "be more careful next time". Smiled at us, then walked back to his home. We never told our parents.

Butch never did either.

Memories like that have an impact on you for the rest of your life.

My deep condolences to Wayne, Susan and Todd.
