

Frederick B Six

August 9, 2018

Frederick B. Six, 76, of Moorestown, NJ, passed away at his home on August 9th, 2018. Born on January 18th, 1942, in Harrisburg, PA, Fred was the son of the late Bayne Berdett Six and Freda Louise (Hoffman) Six.

Fred grew up in West Fairview, a suburb of Harrisburg, and graduated from West Shore High School in Lemoyne, and was the class Salutatorian. Fred then attended the Pennsylvania State University, where he was a member of the Acacia Fraternity. Fred remained a life-long member in the PSU Alumni Association and supporter of the university. Fred completed his Master's Degree at the Stevens Institute of Technology. His distinguished career in computer systems engineering included time at Bell Labs, Singer, Plessey, and finally Lockheed Martin. Much of his work was related to military defense systems, and he received many awards throughout his career for his contributions to critical defense technology that protected our nation.

Fred is survived by his sister, Patricia (Six) Corby, his son Derek Six, and his grandson Daniel Six.

The family plans to hold a private memorial service in October in the Harrisburg area. In lieu of flowers, written memories may be directed to Derek Six, 6 S. Shirley Ave, Moorestown, NJ 08057.

“ So sorry to hear of Freds passing. I am a cousin to Fred, my Mother Irene Gabe was a first cousin. Invited to visit he and his wife Marie at their home in New Jersey, we had lovely conversations. He was a nice man and we are sorry to hear of his death. Holding you in thought as you move through this difficult time.
