“ My memories of Mom are focused around her many skills that added to the quality of our family life. Family members know that she would have liked to become a nurse. Although that dream was never realized, she threw herself wholeheartedly into her role of wife, mother of four, and homekeeper. Throughout my childhood and into my adult years I have fond memories of her as hostess to countless family dinners and holiday celebrations. She kept a spotless home, and she taught me so much about homekeeping, cooking, organizing, etc. She was a woman of many artistic talents, as shown through her sewing, needlework, decorating, and other art and craft projects. She maintained a beautiful garden at each of her homes, and neighbors and friends often commented about how much they enjoyed her gardens. She enjoyed helping people, and was always ready to pitch in whenever needed. I am appreciative for all these things, and I am grateful for all the positive things that she contributed to my life and to the rest of the family. I like to think that she is now reunited with other beloved family members who have gone on before her, and I hope she is in a state of peace, love, and pure joy.
