

Ralph Albert Hannmann Jr.

February 10, 2015

Ralph Albert Hannmann, Jr. of Moorestown, N.J. died peacefully on Tuesday, February 10th. Ralph was the owner of Hannmann Machinery Systems for the last 20 years, and previously worked for Lockheed Martin Corporation, where he was a recipient of the Aegis Excellence Award, and the US Navy as a civilian engineer. He received a degree in electrical engineering from the University of Cincinnati and a Master's degree in business from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

Ralph is survived by his wife of 30 years, Barbara, a stepson, Patrick McCormick, MD (Beverly) and their son Peter; his stepdaughter, Anne Marsico (nee McCormick) (Andrew). Also surviving are two sisters, Patricia Brown (Kent) of Oregon, Carol of Pittsburgh, and his Aunt, Agnes Barkley, of Pittsburgh.

Ralph was born in Long Island, NY, and was raised in Ohio. After college he traveled the world working as an engineer for the U.S. Navy, including assignments in Egypt on the Suez Canal Clearance Task Force. In recent years he loved spending his free time in Barnegat Light, N.J. with his family and his dog Bella.

“ Dear family of Ralph Hannmann Jr.:

I was sorry to hear that you lost your dear husband and father. Losing someone you love in death is one of the hardest things that anyone will ever have to deal with. I would like to share a Bible thought where it says to, throw all your anxiety on him, because he cares for you. This scripture makes it clear, that no matter what we are facing God is there for us. Please take time to pray during this time. I hope this brief Bible message has brought you a measure of comfort in this difficult time.
